MISSES' FIVE-GORED SKIRT.

New Models Fit Closely Around Upper Part of Waist.

Misses' Five-Gored Skirt With Full Graduated Flaunce, No. 880.—As the season for light-weight fabries approaches, there is a slight change in the style of skirts. The new models fit just as closely around the upper portions and flare widely at the bottom. In some cases this flare is produced by gathered flounces in place of circular ches, and the effect is exceedingly attractive as well as stylish.

The illustration shows one of these skirts developed in dove gray veiling made over trace-colored taffeta. It is shaped with five gores, narrow front and side gores, and wide backs that are fitted smoothly around the waist and over the hips. The usual hip darts are omitted, as the side gores are quite marrow. This is a new feature in five-gored skirts, and appreciated by those who dislike the darts.

12, 14, and 16 years.

The closing is made invisibly at the center back under two inverted plaits that are flatly pressed. The seams of the skirt are machine attiched.

The pattern is given full length, and the fleunce applied on the line of perforations indicated on the gores. It is gathered at the upped edge, and the joining hidden beneath a stitched band of the material.

The flounce is quite shallow in front, and graduates to a considerable depth at the back, giving a stylish flare around the bottom. The mode may be developed in cashmere, albatross, challie, or any lightweight weelen fabric. It is also appropriate for d'mity, swiss, organdie or sprigged muslin, which may be trimmed with lace or embroiders. which may be triamed with face of em-broidery.

To make the skirt in the medium size will require 3% yards of 44-inch material. The pattern, No. 86%, is cut in sizes for misses 12, 14 and 16 years.

Comptroller Urges Still Further Retrenchment, Owing to Inadequacy of Municipal Revenue.

significant circular from comptroller Play-er, a circular containing an admonition that the retrenchment policy which has prevailed during the first year of the Wells administration will be extended and be even more rigorously enforced, if possible, in the fiscal year, which will begin on April 8. The notice was somewhat of a surprise, as it constitutes a departure in municipal financial transactions, but it was received with general good grace.

This circular notifies chiefs of departments that appropriations for next year will be based on the appropriations made in the last general appropriation bill. It also warns officials to prepare plans for the practice of rigid economy in every direction. A request is made that estimates of funds that will be needed next year be submitted that will be needed next year be submitted as soon as possible, which estimates must be based on this year's allotments.

There will be no deficit in the City Treasury at the close of the fiscal year, even tho igh the revenue has proved inadequate to the amount of about $1,000,000. Through the efforts of Mayor Wells, Comptroller Player and the Ways and Means committees of the City Council and the House of Delegates, assisted by chiefs of departments, expenses were kept within the revenue, aithough many sacrifices were made to do this.

The city's affairs could not have been so successfully directed, in a financial way, it is asserted, if departments had not omitted performance of public work that should have been done. In other words, certain work that should have been done was not done.

Mr. Player declares, in this connection, not done.

Mr. Player declares, in this connection, that the city's affairs cannot be properly administered without at least one million dollars additional revenue every year. This amount is absolutely necessary, he states, for carrying on public work up to a reasonably fair standard. For relief he points to the constitutional amendments, which will be submitted to the voters this autumn.

for iron and steel in the construction of the Wirld's Fair buildings, had their attention directed yesterday to an article in a Chicago newspaper criticising them for this departure frem the plan of construction followed at the Chicago fair.

Director of Works Taylor said that a building of heavy timbers was, if anything, more indestructible by fire than a building where iron and wood or steel and wood were used in conjunction. The wood, according to his statement, does not yield to the strains until its factor of safety is burned away. As the fire can only work on the outside of the soild timbers, some time is required to burn away this factor. He cited the instance of the destruction by fire of several of the boasted steel-frame buildings at the Chicago exposition.
